Jami Svay

Jami Svay says that beauty comes from being happy with what you see in the mirror and having confidence. Svay, 37, is a makeup artist and started her own blog called The Beauty FULL Life. "I'm not trying to change the world," she writes on her blog, "but in a small way, make it more beauty-full."

Bruce Julian

When asked about her husband's personal style, Bruce Julian's wife, Bonnie, says that color, cut, and texture are three essentials that impact both his dress and what he sells in his store, Bruce Julian Clothier. "See why I married her?" Julian, 65, says.

Traci Zeller

"In interior design and in fashion, I gravitate toward clean, architectural lines and beautiful textiles, paired with a carefully chosen statement piece," says Traci Zeller of Traci Zeller Interiors. One piece of advice that Zeller, 44, has for fashion followers and interior design clients is to not be afraid to step outside of your comfort zone, as long as it still feels like it fits your style.

Doug Gravely

"For men, blues, greys, and a brown shoe will take you anywhere in the world," says Doug Gravely, sales and chief merchandiser for Taylor Richards & Conger. Gravely, 53, is inspired by many things when it comes to his own personal style—whether that be an old cobblestone sidewalk in a small town or a new piece of art in a major metropolitan.
